Does Your Project Require an Application to the University of Illinois IRB Office?

Will you, a member of your research team, or a collaborator observe, interact with, or intervene with individuals to gather information that will be used for research? Examples:
- Surveys, questionnaires, focus groups, interviews
- Physical or biomedical procedures - imaging, scanning, blood collection, anthropomorphic procedures
- Games, experiments in physical or in electronic environments
- Studies examining individuals’ responses to manipulation of their physical or online environment
- Passive observation of public behavior (in physical or online environments, including social media)
- Another activity that involves observation of, or interaction with, individuals to gather information for research
- Use of instruments or devices, including phones, to collect data or monitor or influence behavior
- Studies examining effectiveness of educational tools or curricula
- Diet, nutrition studies, taste tests

NO
- Research will use only existing data

YES
- Refer to IRB Decision Tree #2 on Existing/Secondary data

Is the information being collected 'about' individuals?

NO
- The focus of the project is only on products, methods, policies, procedures, organizations: e.g., interviewing transportation staff and officials about parking or transportation policies and procedures.

YES
- Not human participant research. No application to the IRB office is needed.

The focus of the project is on people or their opinions, perceptions, choices, decisions regarding themselves or how methods, policies, procedures, organizations etc. affect them or their environment.

Is this a class project?

NO

Is the sole intent of the project to meet course requirements, with no intention to use the results for something other than the course assignment?

YES
- The project may lead to use of the results outside of the course (e.g., for a publication, presentation, thesis, or dissertation).

NO
- Does the project involve stories that will or may draw broad conclusions about the population, cultures, norms and practices; even if no research hypothesis is being tested or validated?

YES
- Published materials will be limited to only documenting or reporting on events, situations, policies, institutions or systems without the intent to form hypotheses, draw conclusions, or generalize findings.

NO
- Not human participant research. No application to the IRB office is needed.

Is this a class project?

YES

Will outcomes be generalized for other organizations, programs or services?

YES
- Outcomes will remain specific to the organization, programs or services, although other organizations may use the results for their own programs.

NO
- Project is research with human subjects. An application to IRB office and written notice of approval required before the study can begin. Forms available at www.oprs.research.illinois.edu. Questions? Contact irb@illinois.edu.
